Trip To Silistra

Today I was awaken by Nomen and we had a nice morning banichki :). A bit later I and Nomen went to Silistra for a nice trip. The go was Nomen's idea. If we do not count the fact that we did mistakenly taken a wrong route and had to use the GPS to lead us a bit to find the right way all went flawless. On our way we visited a village called (Vaznesenie Gospodne), the Ascension of Christ as it reads in English. In Silistra We walked around the Danube river and had a drink. Silistra isn't nothing special as a town in general. On our road back I used my ultra l337 skills and drived the way home. Afterwards we went out with Niki (lunarstill) and a had a coffee. Luckily I haven't experienced problems with servers or anything unusual today. A little while ago I went to see my grandma as I usually do in the evening. Yesterday my grandma was experiencing terrible pains in her legs a consequence of her diabetis disease. I felt so bad about it and prayed fervently to God to help her. Apperantly our merciful God (The Holy Trinity) heard my prayers. Today my grandma feels much better and her legs didn't hurt her so severely.END-----
