

Back on the Road Again

Author : admin

Yesterday I've went through a depression. The depression is trying to hunt me periodically. Right now I feel soso. So Praise the Lord. Yesterday I found out I passed the Accounting exam this was a great deal (thanks LORD). Today since it's Saturday I hoped I will be able to sleep until 2, 3 o'clock unfortunately Tisho came and wake me up. Tisho is a friend I borrowed some money a week and a half ago. I can't communicate normally with this guy I don't know why ... We went to Mitko to take him for a coffee. e was playing Mugen ( A StreetFighter like cool fighting game). We stayed there for 30 minutes probably and then went to the fountain for a coffee. It was boring as a whole we smoked some cigarettes then everybody went to his home. When I came back I upgraded the PHP modules on two of the boxes of DBG and right now I upgraded the clamav release. Meanwhile My boss make some interviews for a new server admin in the firm. One friend Joro went on the interview and the Boss approved him for the Job. What I am wandering and feeling about is, will this be me substitution in the firm or this will be just another local administrator for the office. Actually I hope this thing would happen that God has thought about me. I wait for the Lord to direct my way to somewhere since I'm in the ocean as and no Land can be seen, just like I dreamed in one of my dreams before few months. In 5 o'clock I'll meet Joro to speak about him how his interview in DBG went and possibly what will be his exam. ( I'll be the examiner :). Static came home yesterday and told me the dream he had the previous night. He dreamed the Lord Jesus Christ. Here is the dream. Our saviour was standing on a platform of a sort of clouds and a lot of people were around him. He was all in light and everything around was light, there were 4 pillars ending in a sort of a sky. Jesus was all in white (white more whiter than any light in the world we can observe), he was with long White beard and Long white hair. Then my friend who dreamed this dream just thought in his mind "Oh Lord that's you." Then the Lord Jesus Christ pointed at him and he started ascending into the skies, full of very deep joy. After that he just woke up and prayed. Well Praise the Lord for giving to one of my brothers such a wonderful dream. I hope his mercy will guard us all. Let Christ's peace be in our hearts. Amen END-----