

Passed the Statistics exam Glory be to the Creator of Heaven and Earth!

Author : admin

Aloha. Yesterday was a nice day. I was on the marketing exam, and after that I suggested to one of my colleagues (Narf) to drink a coffee together. We discussed various stuff IRC(mainly), and then computer general stuff. Then he explained me about some interesting scripts that enhance the irssi irc experience. Then we I suggested him to go home to show him my FreeBSD box and geek for some time. In the path to home we saw Nomen, he just checked if I'm home and was going to his home. We stayed home for some time, watched BB, some games Diablo II with wine etc. After that he said he had to go. Later we went out with Mitko to one pub called regal we drank a bear per man. And decied to go to his home to watch a film concerning the life of One very famous (now dead) "prophetess" called Grandma Vanga. As I thought before that and most of my friends christians from what I saw I'm almost convinced this woman did prophecised and did stuff with the help of the Evil Seducer ( The Devil ). Praise the Lord I passed the Statistics exam thanks to the Lord's help HalleluYah to his Heavenly Throne. After that I went home and decided to take a shower to remove the EGG I put on my hair few days ago :], and after that went to bed. Today I feel really awful I probably get cold Yesterday :[. Hope I'll be okay for a day or two. Thanks God for being merciful to me. As soon as you see and hear me I hope soon you'll set me up on the place you've prepared for me Lord :P :]. I should start learning soon for my next exam which is in International Law, but again I'm too lazy.END-----