

The last few days

Author : admin

Today Ivailo a relative called me and asked me to go to their second hand furniture shop and help them translating things to a English customers, Just after that we had Marketing Planning with a Dutch guy. After that I went to the VoIP to speak with the leaseweb's salesdepartment because a friend of mine is thinking of colocation of few servers. Yesterday and today were a quiet days Thanks to The Lord. I have to create two projects one is about Statistical Informational Systems (SPSS) in particular the other one is for Marketing Planning project which is on the topic of Marketing Plan about the Selling of a Marketing TextBook. First I should mention yesterday I prayed to the Lord to help to a friend of mine which desperately needed money to bless him with money and Hooray the Lord was fast. Today a guys who promised from an AutoWashing company called him and gave him the job on and he is now on a trial period. Praise the Lord and His Mighty Deeds! :) Also now in the evening an Evolink techsupport called me to halt pozvanete's server, because he had to mount the one 4 GB bank to the server. All went fine :) I should also note that God is giving me his abundant grace eventhough I don't deserve it.END-----
